

The ability to keep one's cell phone number from carrier to carrier would be a great cost savings (business cards, letter heads, and old customers), to all consumers and also reduce the number of new phone numbers needed in many metro areas (a cost savings to Government!!).

I for one I'm in favor of having the same phone number wherever I go and which ever carrier I give my business to.

Very truly yours

Rudy A. Martinello